APPOINTING GUARDIANS for your children

As a parent, one of the most important decisions you can make is who will care for your children if something happens to you.

Here's your guide to getting it right.

1. CHOOSE PEOPLE YOU TRUST

Think carefully about who shares your values, lifestyle and parenting approach.

Consider their:

- Relationship with your children
- Age and health
- Parenting style
- Willingness to take on this responsibility

2. TALK TO THEM FIRST

Before naming someone in your Will, have an open and honest conversation.

Make sure they are willing and understand the responsibility involved.

3. INCLUDE THEM IN YOUR WILL

You can legally appoint guardians in your Will. Without this, the court will decide who cares for your children which may not be your preference.

THINGS TO CONSIDER

- ✓ MORE THAN ONE OPTION
You can name more than one guardian in case your first choice is unable or unwilling to act.
- ✓ LETTER OF WISHES
You can write a non-binding letter of wishes to guide your chosen guardians on education, routines, beliefs and values.
- ✓ KEEP IT UPDATED
Review your Will regularly, especially after major life changes such as marriage, divorce or the birth of more children.

WHY IT MATTERS

Appointing guardians in your Will gives you peace of mind, knowing your children will be cared for by someone you trust, in the way you would want.

DID YOU KNOW?

If you don't appoint guardians, the court decides based on what it believes is in the best interests of your children – not necessarily what you would have chosen.
